Things To Know Before You Tow

The Right Equipment Adds Safety, Simplicity and Convenience

Traveling with a dinghy vehicle is almost a given with today's larger motorhomes. Although the trend to bigger coaches has injected camping with more creature comforts than a luxury hotel room, it's not without its drawbacks. Even rigs with a 60-degree wheel cut will encounter some difficulty negotiating narrow roads — and it's just not fun trying to park a 40-footer at local markets when picking up perishables.

A dinghy simplifies such tasks, and eliminates the need to break camp and stow everything each time you need (or want) to venture away from the campground. Additionally, the dinghy can stow gear securely when motor-home storage is filled (within weight restrictions), and there is the security of having a spare set of wheels in the event of an emergency.

It's not without consequences; towing a dinghy will affect the acceleration, fuel economy and braking of any coach, to some degree. However, proper selection of a dinghy vehicle and towing equipment will enable you to safely and conveniently enjoy the benefits of auxiliary transportation.

FLAT TOWING

The first and most essential step in selecting a dinghy vehicle is to make sure it is approved by its manufacturer for flat towing (see "2013 Dinghy Roundup," page 12). While you do have other options — many passenger cars or light trucks can safely be used as a dinghy, provided a towing accessory (such as a transmission lube pump) is available for that specific model as an aftermarket add-on, or towing on a dolly or trailer is planned — these vehicles have been certified for four-wheels-down towing without affecting their warranties. However, buyers should always first confirm flat-towability by consulting the vehicle's owner's manual before the purchase is finalized.

When selecting a dinghy, first find out the maximum towing limit of your motorhome and then determine which vehicles fall within that limit. Towing limits aren't the only factor to consider, but they help to eliminate many

A drop receiver might be needed to keep the tow bar level.

2004 TOWING GUIDE

NEW MODELS AND REDESIGNS LEAD THE LIST

Compiled by Joel Donaldson

Trailerists will have a wider variety of tow rigs this year, most significantly with the all-new Ford F-150, Dodge Durango and Nissan Titan pickup. Others completely new to the ranks include BMW's X3 compact SUV, the Nissan Pathfinder Armada full-size SUV, GM's new Canyon/Colorado compact pickup and VW's Touareg and Porsche's Cayenne mid-size SUVs. The biggest bad news is the demise of the V-10 engine in Ram HDs.

This guide lists the maximum trailer weight for a given model capable of towing at least 2,000 pounds. Where available, footnotes indicate restrictions such as transmission, axle ratio, towing packages and tire-size-imposed limits. For Ford and GM pickups, ratings for fifth-wheel trailers are given separately as they are usually higher.

However, remember these are ideal maximums, that a heavily optioned and loaded truck will tow less, based on the gross combined weight rating (gcwr). Every effort has been made to ensure accuracy, but the manufacturer's towing information, available from your dealer, always takes precedence.
