Get the pdfs below (We also have free printable CVC flashcards for more practice!). The task is for kids to carefully read a bunch of sentences and pick appropriate CVC words to fill in them. Children begin to understand that letters are not isolated sounds, but instead are put together to build words. And CVC words are perfect words for early readers because they can be decoded very easily. When you spell the word cat, first comes a consonant (c), then a short vowel (a), then another consonant (t). They are the easiest to learn as they only use the letter sounds/phonics already learnt. Just to be sure we're on the same page, CVC words are 3-letter words where the first is a consonant, the second a vowel, and the third a consonant. e.g., Pam is a cat. The task is to identify and circle the images whose names have the mentioned word chunks.
