The Rhetorical Triangle
Thesis	Thesis is primary appeal and is evidence the speaker used to persuade their case.

Rhetorical Appeals Quiz

Directions: Read each set of circumstances, and for each situation, circle the correct set of appeals that would most likely help you or the speaker involved accomplish the goal. Then, in a paragraph DEFEND your selection.

1. As part of a school anti-bullying essay contest, A boy writes an essay to a bullying outreach program detailing his experiences with a bully, he gives them detailed accounts of his experiences with his bully and how bullying changed him, the winner of the contest also receives a prize, which set of appeals is he most likely to use to persuade his readers to proclaim him as the winner?

PATHOSLOGOS-LOGOSETHOS- ETHOSPATHOS

2. A four star United States Army General must deliver a speech to his troops in regard to the massive loss of life that his regiment experienced in a recent firefight with the enemy, majority of troops in attendance knew at least one of the deceased soldiers, and the General himself has been a soldier for 25 years, which set of appeals is he most likely to use in order to motivate his troops?

1. But 100 years later, the Negro still is not free. One hundred years later, the life of the Negro is still sadly crippled by the manacles of segregation and the chains of discrimination. One hundred years later, the Negro lives on a lonely island of poverty...

For each example or definition, write the MOST prevalent rhetorical appeal (ethos, logos, or pathos). More than one appeal may be present, but you should choose the primary appeal represented.

1.	An appeal based on the speaker's character
2.	An appeal to an audience's emotions
3.	Use of logic and reasoning
4.	"Anything all black is bad. I am all black. I am bad." Stokely Carmichael
5.	The King has enslaved us in a cage of tyranny.
6.	Three children lost their mother today at the hands of rebel troops, who, in cold blood, executed the innocent woman. Her children watched her die. Now they have no one to provide them food, comfort, or a future.
7.	The cause of human suffering has always been a failure of humans to care for one another. If only we would begin to care for each other, we could end the suffering and starvation that brings misery into this world.
8.	A tear-jerking anecdote about a woman who died from radioactive pollution
9.	Statistical analysis showing that a particular law fails to deter crime.
10.	A reference about the speaker's efforts to pass a bill to provide funding to families affected by the flood.

Intervention: Agency, Logos, Ethics, and Futures Whenever you read or segment you get a question: "What's important about this, why? And what's not?"
