On the day of the study tour to Spain, six Palestinian women lawyers met with the Spanish Association of Judges to learn more about the importance and benefits of networking. A During the meeting, some Spanish judges shared their experience of working in the network of judiciaries and stressed the need for coordinated cooperation. A As part of strengthening the justice sector, women must make more efforts to reach the top positions in the judiciary. 2022-10-27 EUPOL COPPS Head of Mission Natalia Apostolova met with newly appointed UNRWA West Bank Director Adam Bulukos at EUPOL COPPS headquarters. Accompanied by members of their respective teams, the two sides discussed ways to strengthen cooperation in the implementation of our respective mandates, including in the area of public law dialogue. A EUPOL COPPS looks forward to working closely with UNRWA on issues of mutual interest, with the needs of our beneficiaries as a top priority. On 26.10.2022 EUPOL COPPS organized a seminar to discuss legislation for a modernized prison service. The seminar was opened by Minister of Justice SE, representative of the Palestinian Civil Police and Acting Head of Mission. A The Prisons and Rehabilitation Bill was preceded by the Mission's proposal for renewal, which led to several meetings where the Mission met with the PCP on a special committee chaired by the Department of Justice to amend the bill. The event was attended by senior officials from the Ministries of Justice and Interior, the Palestinian Civil Police, legal advisers to the Council of Ministers and other ministries, as well as representatives of civil society and EUPOL COPPS advisers. 10/14/2022 As part of our ongoing cooperation with our international partners on the ground, the EUPOL COPPS Police Advisory Unit accepted the team this week to discuss and develop further areas of cooperation between the two organizations. A range of topics were discussed, including policing, training, gender issues, and leadership and organizational development and criminal investigations. Both teams explored specific ideas on how to further shape the collaboration to increase support for our beneficiaries while ensuring we work together, avoiding duplication and making the most of our shared resources. EUPOL COPPS strongly promotes cooperation between international partners. For this reason, among other things, such meetings will be permanently entered in our calendars. 10/13/2022 Our cybercrime expert at EUPOL COPPS can best be described as a "smile in uniform". Esther Sense, a veteran police officer from Germany with the rank of Chief Police Investigator, joined EUPOL COPPS earlier this year bringing to the table a cheerful demeanor that a witness enjoys on a daily basis alongside years of experience in her field. Esther is always ready for a nice word and a nice welcome, which of course made our conversation with her even more pleasant. Tell us something about yourself (nationality, professional background, experience and knowledge) I'm from Hannover, Germany. I joined the German police in 2001 and spent my early years in the riot police and patrol services. In 2008 I was assigned to one of the first newly formed cybercrime units in Germany, where I was part of the team that built the unit from scratch. In 2013-2016 I worked in the information technology development department as a programmer. Since 2013 I have been delegated to the computer forensics department. Initially as a full-time forensic computer scientist and from 2020 after completing a three-year training course at the Federal Criminal Police Office and at the university as a certified IT forensic scientist with a specializationLinux and automotive forensics. Submit your portfolio to EUPOL COPPS here. I am seconded from Germany as a Cybercrime Expert in the Police Advisory Unit and my direct partner is the Cybercrime Unit of the Palestinian Civil Police. My portfolio aims to support PCP given the many challenges they face such as: B. the lack of updated equipment to support their efforts to fight cybercrime. I also support them on a broader level, including raising public awareness of cybercrime, an issue that is not only growing in importance but has immediate implications for the entire community. What do you enjoy most about being a member of EUPOL COPPS and working in the region?Collaborating with our colleagues as well as all members of the Mission and building friendships with such a diverse team of colleagues. Acting in a theater as sensitive as ours, I am very fortunate to be able to observe different cultures in my daily life and to call this historically unique place in the world my home. This is a special experience that I cherish every day. What challenges are you facing and how do you think they can be overcome? As with any branch of the PCP, a number of policy issues compound the challenges faced in the day-to-day implementation of the PCP's mandate. The Cybercrime Unit is relatively new to PCP, having been set up in 2013. In line with its mandate, this department works at a high technical level that is unlikely to be understood by laypeople. As digital evidence becomes increasingly important in criminal investigations, I believe this department needs to expand its capabilities, particularly in the crime lab, to ensure adequate and acceptable means of gathering evidence and preventing illegal investigative methods. This must be done not only by expanding the work environment to deal with the growing number of cases in the Palestinian Territories, but also bytraining in digital evidence and data privacy research to meet the challenges posed by this very fast-growing and internationally connected policing area. Esther, thank you so much for sharing your thoughts with the PPIO team. Your portfolio is truly amazing. Despite the difficulties, stay positive, and we are always ready to further support your glorious endeavors! 2022-10-26 EUPOL COPPS Police Advisory Unit Police Working Group consists of two very experienced colleagues from Italy and Canada respectively. Pietro Tripodi, Sostituto Commissario della Polizia di Stato, Senior Public Policy Adviser, joined EUPOL COPPS in November 2021; while Sergeant Brian Lowe of the Halton Regional Police Service is our Community Police Adviser and joined the mission in October 2021. While Pietro and Brian have had very different careers, the obvious plus is their many years of experience (over 70 years) on the job. appropriate police force, which in turn enabled them not only to assemble an excellent team but also to develop a strong and fruitful working relationship with our local counterparts in successfully fulfilling the mandate of the mission. The Public Order Working Party met with the PPIO team and shared their experiences at EUPOL COPPS. Tell us a bit about yourself (country, work background, experience and knowledge). Pietro: I am a police officer who has worked for the Italian police for the last 36 years. Throughout my career, I have held various positions such as Armed Response Patrol Team and Supervisor, UN Police Kosovo and the European External Action Service as Duty Officer at Operations Headquarters and Duty Officer at Armed Forces Headquarters. Skill. Brian: I was assigned to this mission by the Royal Canadian Mounted Police. I have a bachelor's degree in criminology and am 35 years old have police experience and have been involved in community patrol, investigations, special forces, explosive ordnance disposal, ground search and rescue, and maritime patrols. My skills include planning, teaching and performing various functions that I have worked on. portfolio here EUPOL COPPSPietro: As part of my mission, I am a Senior Police Adviser for Public Order. In short, duties and responsibilities include advising our Palestinian Civil Police colleagues on how best to bridge the gap between the police and society at large. This is not an easy task given our size and challenges, but we are fortunate to have excellent working relationships with our central and district counterparts, which in turn allows us to fulfill our mandate strategically and in partnership. with PKP. Brian: I am a community policing consultant and my role is to provide strategic advice to my PCP partners on community policing activities and training. As Pietro noted, our cooperation with local colleagues is very fruitful, thanks to our joint efforts to create a solid foundation for our partnership, which is getting stronger. What do you like most about being a member of EUPOL COPPS and working in the region? Pietro: Being part of EUPOLCOPPS is a really valuable experience: the mission has colleagues from all over the EU, as well as from participating countries. This creates a unique melting pot of knowledge and personal experience. At the EUPOLCOPPS Police Advisory Unit, I am pleased to lead a community policing team in which I and Brian, my Canadian colleague and friend, ensure that our duties and responsibilities are consistent with those of our immediate colleagues and that we can make a positive contribution to the portfolio of public police under the PCP. brightThe daily efforts of all members of the mission to "make a difference" in collaboration with our colleagues make me proud to work in this region. Brian: In addition to seeing our operational activities bear fruit, I appreciate the unique opportunity to meet and work with many colleagues and residents from different professions, nationalities and cultures. What challenges do you face and how do you think they can be overcome? Pietro: It is clear that EUPOLCOPPS is operating in a very sensitive and unique place in the middle of the longest conflict in history. This places an additional responsibility on us to understand the current situation and to do our best to work closely with our local and international partners, using our personal experience and expertise, thereby sharing best practices and sound policing values, which is the ultimate goal of creating a modern police force that enjoys full public trust. Brian: A shift in mindset to a more policing approach from the traditional reactive "catch the bad guys" approach. While old school response to public calls is still a significant part of policing, proactively responding to community input and collaborative problem solving is a powerful tool in a multi-stakeholder approach when added to the policing toolkit. . Pietro and Brian, thank you! The PPIO team is more than happy to support your efforts. Considering that your portfolio is very closely related to ours in terms of public perception and trust in municipalities, we look forward to further cooperation in our projects. Keep up the great work! 25.09.2022. play_arrowView now play_arrowView now play_arrowView now
